Society of Surgical Simulation

Free society membership: please register at www.journalsurgicalsimulation.com/society/membership

We are compiling a list of simulation centres worldwide and would love to hear about your experience. We would like to encourage you to submit a simulation centre article consisting of the following elements:

- (1) Introduction and history of your simulation unit - include your perceived secret for success and tips on success in learning
- (2) Facilities and equipment
- (3) List of courses offered in your unit
- (4) Instructors and support/research staff
- (5) Research and publications
- (6) Key personnel and contact information
- (7) Good photographs and, if possible, a video of the centre

Please contact us at: editorial@journalsurgicalsimulation.com

- We provide a forum for discussion and meetings on surgical simulation - if you have a meeting, we'll advertise it free of charge
- Original articles, reviews, editorials and articles from meetings are published in our open access, peer reviewed journal
